Llandovery College

Peripatetic Piano Teacher

Llandovery College seeks to provide a truly transforming experience in which intellectual, artistic, sporting, spiritual and social development is at the heart. Llandoverians and their parents join a caring community that recognises and nurtures the innate ability in every individual. The College aims to produce grounded young men and women capable of tackling life's challenges with confidence, determination and cheerfulness

Llandovery College Music Department requires an outstanding teacher of piano to join our dynamic team of peripatetic staff. We are looking to recruit a candidate to teach for one half day per week initially, with the potential for increased hours, dependent on demand.

The candidate must:

- Be an experienced, inspirational and dedicated piano teacher for children aged between 4-18
- Hold at least Grade VIII on piano with further qualifications desirable
- Be highly organised, motivated and IT literate
- Be willing to enter pupils for formal examinations
- Be keen to get involved in the happy and thriving musical life of the school.
